Electronic Marketing

The Spam Act 2003 prohibits the sending of unsolicited commercial electronic messages—known as spam—with an Australian link. A message has an Australian link if it originates or was commissioned in Australia, or originates overseas but was sent to an address accessed in Australia.

The Spam Act 2003 defines a commercial electronic message as:

- Offers, advertises or promotes the supply of goods, services, land or business or investment opportunities;
- Advertises or promotes a supplier of goods, services, land or a provider of business or investment opportunities; or
- Helps a person dishonestly obtain property, commercial advantage or other gain from another person.

The Act classifies an electronic message as 'commercial' by considering:

- The content of the message;
- The way the message is presented; and
- Any links, phone numbers or contact information in the message that leads to content with a commercial purpose—as these may also lead the message to be defined as 'commercial' in nature.

Messages sent without consent

As an educational institution, Vital Training Solutions representatives can send messages to past and current students without their consent, but only if the messages relate to goods or services supplied by Vital Training Solutions.

Identification

All commercial electronic messages sent by Vital Training Solutions representatives accurately identify Vital Training Solutions as the organisation that authorised the sending of the message. Information provided includes:

- Clear and accurate information on Vital Training Solutions that authorised the sending of the message — including the correct legal name of the organisation and an Australian Business Number; and Vital Training Solutions ensures that this information remains correct and valid for at least 30 days after the message is sent.
